

15 July 2019

Prof. Juan Carlos Castillo

Departamento de Sociologia, Universidad de Chile

Dear Juan Carlos,

Thank you for attending the 42nd Annual Scientific Meeting of the International Society of Political Psychology (ISPP) in Lisbon, Portugal, July 12 - July 15, 2019 and presenting your paper entitled:

Exposure to information about economic inequality, opportunity beliefs and redistributive preferences: Results of survey experiments

We feel that your presentations furthered the Society's efforts to create a culture of informed discussion and exchange of ideas focused around issues in political psychology. The ISPP Annual Scientific Meeting aims to create a friendly forum to facilitate constructive dialogue between political psychologists, politicians, and intellectuals, regarding the challenges facing our world. Such collaboration can pave the way toward an improved political psychology, one that not only scrutinizes its progress but is also able to demonstrate the relevance of our work beyond the academic borders of our discipline.

We hope to see you again at a future ISPP conference. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact us at info@ispp.org.

Sincerely,

Severine Bennett, CMP, PMP

Executive Director, ISPP